بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

As-Sadhaan mentioned that, “Shaykh Esaam Haadee (حفظه الله)¹, said, ‘When I came back from Spain I spoke to the Shaykh (رَجْمَهُ اللهُ)² about the condition of the Muslims there. And from the things that I told him about was the justice the Muslims receive in the lands of kufr in terms of freedom in their worship and [the freedom] to gather. Such that, for example, they can make a request to the municipality to [allow them to] pray the Eed prayer in an open place outside [musalla], [as a result of which] the municipality will prepare a place for them and send a patrol officer to facilitate their parking and passing safely, and things such as this.

So the Shaykh (رَجْمَهُ اللهُ) started crying and said, “Allaahu Akbar. The Muslims receive justice and freedom in the lands of kufr which they don’t even get in the lands of Islaam! So Allaah’s Aid is sought, and there is neither movement or power except by the Will of Allaah.”³

¹ (حفظه الله) (hafidhahullaah) may Allaah preserve him

² (رَجْمَهُ اللهُ) (rahimahullaah) May Allaah have mercy on him
